Community in need of change

How to Plan Anything

So what might Spirit-guided planning look like? There are many patterns that may be followed in planning for communities.. Here is one that seeks to honor God and, when used in a group, to honor God's people as your colleagues.

Commit your planning to God. Always begin with a commitment to God, not to have him bless your plans, but to have your plans caught up in his (Proverbs 16:3). This requires an understanding of God's purposes as revealed in his Word and a sober interpretation of current reality (read Isaiah 22). You cannot stop too often in a planning process to ask for God's direction and correction.

Define the planning task or the purpose. What exactly are you trying to achieve? Many wasted hours will be avoided if you can answer this question as clearly as possible (Acts 15:6).

"We are calculating the hours we have taken in the problems without knowing what to do.

Think we need the peter's who can decide what to do".

Boys ploughing

It has been never before in our community
some one digging with Bulls.

We are happy to try and test this ideas as we see it's the animals cutting the ground not like the way we dig with hand.

Our parents believe that if some one does Bwork a lot he will become old very first that's why some times we fear, but as we have leant now , we are to put this in practice for them to see.

We also give a chance for spiritual growth
having some of the go for discipleships and some other skills that are necessary for life.
